

Thunder Bay, located on the north shore of Lake Superior, under the protective watch of the Sleeping Giant, is the largest City in the region and is rich in people and resources and connects Northwestern Ontario to the world.

The Thunder Bay District Health Unit offers a professional work environment that fosters best practices and innovative ideas. TBDHU is committed to providing staff with a healthy work environment complete with development opportunities, flexible work hours, family friendly policies, and an open-minded, caring, and supportive workplace.

We are seeking the following individual to join our team:

Epidemiologist

With the health needs of our community being a priority at all times, you will monitor the health status of residents, conduct epidemiological studies for the Health Unit, and assist with the planning and evaluation of Health Unit programs. Your Master's degree in Epidemiology or a related discipline is complemented by three to five years' experience in a health related field (preferably in public health). As the successful candidate, you will have exceptional organizational, evaluation, and planning skills and familiarity with current public health issues. Interest and experience with health promotion project evaluation and qualitative research are a must in your position. Experience with computer systems related to epidemiology and statistics and experience with the design and analysis of surveys are all skills required to excel in your new role.

Salary range: $68,921.92 - $81,084.61

Hours of work: Full-Time Permanent (35 hours per week)

Application Deadline: March 5, 2010 – please quote competition # NU-10-03 in your Cover Letter and Resume

An exciting career in public health awaits you!

For a detailed job description and to apply online:

TBDHU.COM/CAREERS

Thunder Bay District
Health Unit